IT Completes Upgrade of Naviline

Last week the IT Department completed the upgrade of the Naviline Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system. This moved the user interface from a Java based program to one based in HTML 5. The upgrade brings enhanced flexibility, security and reliability to this system. Users can customize their experience to make the use of the system more efficient. IT will be training users, in functional groups, over the next few weeks to help them become more comfortable with this new interface.

To more effectively use the new Naviline interface, an upgrade of the web browser on the user's computer is required. Between Feb. 11, and Feb. 12, IT will be replacing the old Microsoft Edge Browser with an updated version. You will see the logo on your desktop change from this,

to this,

The new Edge is powered by the same engine that runs Chrome. In addition to the new Naviline, this provides better performance, compatibility, and functionality across many websites. This update will happen overnight. Please close any browsers you have open before leaving the office.
