All Home Depot stores are now collecting CFL's (compact fluorescent lights) for recycling. These are the newer, smaller, fluorescent lights, designed to save energy. There is a very small amount of mercury in these bulbs, and this program was designed to handle the concern regarding the mercury. The local Home Depot store is located at 3941 Tamiami Trail. Bins will soon be located at the stores for the collection of the bulbs. In the meantime, residents should take the CFL's to the customer service desk for handling. The stores will NOT be accepting the longer, older style fluorescent bulbs. These bulbs should be taken to the Charlotte County Mini-Transfer station in Murdock.
