A Most Unusual Story (and no you can't make this stuff up) - As our employees who work in the historic City Hall were arriving in the morning of August 23, they noticed what was perceived as a “homeless person” sleeping in a hammock in front of the building, within the bushes, behind the panther monument fronting Marion

Avenue. On the street in front of City Hall at that same location was a WINK TV news van. A call was placed with our Police Department to come and escort the person and bedding away from the area. Staff was hopeful the WINK TV news van was there for another purpose and not to film the person sleeping on a hammock in front of City Hall. Officers responded and searched the surrounding area but alas no one could be located associated with the fine looking hammock. Well lo and behold, our very own Perri Turner, City Clerk's Office, noticed the “homeless man” man taking down the hammock, packing up the camera and news equipment. Apparently, and as it turns out, the “homeless man” was actually the camera man who was taking a nap before the news story was scheduled to be filmed.
